I think this site is the same as the woodland lakes news also the same guy as woodland camper he is mad because of him trying to get in with out paying his dues on property he owns. someone posted on one of the other site that according to the indenture that he has on his website that 111 dollars is on the lot and 18 goes to the owner then it is divide amongst other accounts. So i may be wrong but if it is on the lot it would follow the lot? Do not think he owe the 18 as it says owner and since he did not own it he should not have to pay it. It spells out where the funds should go if that is not the case then why is it desinate to different funds if it is not followed
